

THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS EXECUTIVE SEMINAR

November 25, 1974

Lt. General Vernon A. Walters
Deputy Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Vernon,

The participants and faculty of the Foreign Affairs Executive Seminar are very appreciative for your appearance in our program November 18. Your remarks on the structure and responsibilities of the intelligence community, and, specifically, the functions of the CIA were clearly and forthrightly presented. The class was most favorably impressed with your candor, thoroughness, and wit in response to their many questions, and they felt this was one of the most useful sessions in the three weeks program.

Following your presentation each of our four Regional Seminars met separately with two NIOs and with representatives of the Intelligence Directorate. These smaller meetings allowed a more direct and deeper examination of specific regional conditions and problems. These meetings were extremely useful to our participants and in each instance the NIOs and the analysts provided outstanding presentations.

Again, I would like to thank you for giving the Executive Seminar so generously of your time and for the important contribution the Agency makes to our program.

Sincerely,

Howard E. Haugerud
Chairman
